Listing of Claims:

1. (Currently Amended) A pile yarn processed ~~wrap-warp~~ knit fabric including a plurality of unified warp knit fabrics comprising:
~~a plurality of unified wrap knit fabrics divided by wale oriented cutting portions and course oriented cutting portions;~~
the unified ~~wrap-warp~~ knit fabrics including a plurality of wales to be divided into many groups, each of which is constituted as loop yarns to be formed lengthwise in numerous lines and widthwise in numerous rows, in which weft yarns are inlaid in grouped wales in a wale direction to form a loop turning around the connecting portions between wales in an alternative arrangement with some weft yarns being superposed upon each another in double or more ~~and not be~~, and pile yarns are inserted in lengthwise grouped wales to intersect the connecting points between the wales in a staggered form;
~~the a wale oriented cutting portion formed between neighboring unified warp knit fabrics widthwise, in which a single weft yarn is continuously intersected in a staggered form, turning around the opposite connecting points of edge wales in neighboring unified warp knit fabrics; and;~~

~~the—a~~ course oriented cutting portion formed as wale portions between neighboring unified warp knit fabrics lengthwise, in which a single weft yarn and single pile yarn are alternatively intersected in a staggered form to each other, turning around the connecting points of wales that are extended lengthwise adjacent edge wales [[4]] of neighboring unified ~~warp-warp~~ knit fabrics thereby enabling a plurality of unified warp knit fabrics to be divided by wale oriented portions and course oriented cutting portions.

2. (Currently Amended) The pile yarn processed ~~warp-warp~~ knit fabric as claimed in Claim 1, in which:

~~a pile portion using the pile yarns is—are used to form a pile portion~~ formed on one side surface or both surfaces of the grouped wales, ~~its form of which is not limited to any other format~~.

3. (Currently Amended) The pile yarn processed ~~warp-warp~~ knit fabric as claimed in Claim 1, in which:

the pile yarn processed ~~warp-warp~~ knit fabric comprises a plurality of unified ~~warp-warp~~ knit fabrics that can be divided only by wale oriented cutting portions or only by course oriented cutting portions, and the unified ~~warp-warp~~ knit fabric is formed using only weft yarns and loop yarns except for pile yarns.

4. (Currently Amended) The pile yarn processed ~~wrap~~warp knit fabric as claimed in Claim 1, in which:

the wale oriented cutting portion is formed so that a single weft yarn connects opposite grouped wales in neighboring unified warp knit fabrics to each another widthwise in a staggered form.

5. (Currently Amended) The pile yarn processed ~~wrap~~warp knit fabric as claimed in Claim 1, in which:

the course oriented cutting portion is formed so that the single weft yarn and single pile yarn extended from the unified warp knit fabric are inserted in wales adjacent the unified warp knit fabrics in a staggered form.
